THE TRADES' CONVENTION.

2. Following upon the action of the workmen of Great Britain and of the House of Commons, came the pronouncement by Mr. Samuel Gompers in favor of independent political action, and the approaching elections in the United States and in Canada will no doubt witness a tremendous upheaval among the working classes in this regard. The Congress should urge its constituents to work with a united front so that advantage may be taken of the spirit of the times.

Legislative

3. A full report of the doings of the Dominion parliament so far as they affect labor will be found in our solicitor's report. The wisdom of the Congress in maintaining an experienced representative at Ottawa has been amply demonstrated. The Provincial legislatures are covered by the reports of the Provincial executives.

International Relations

4. While some success has attended the effort to have Canadian local unions affiliated from international headquarters, there yet remains much to be done, and representations should be made to the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor in this regard with a request for further assistance from that body. While the efforts of the Congress enure to all, it is hardly fair that a few should be left to bear the expense attaching to the maintenance of the Congress.

Prison-Made Goods

5. It is a matter of sincere regret that the Ontario government has seen fit to spoil its growing reputation by continuing the unjust, inequitable and injurious competition of prison labor with free labor. It was hoped that this question had been settled for all time, but the government has entered upon a new contract, its excuse being that no protest had been received from organized labor against it. The contract is bad enough, but the government should not have helped so materially to put it in power by offering such an excuse, when, as a matter of fact, the Congress, the Provincial executive and the different labor bodies have protested vehemently year after year against this pernicious system. The manufacturers have at last awakened to the injustice of the system, and co-operative and active efforts should be made without delay to put an end, once for all, to the whole system.

Retirement of Sir W. Mulock

6. The year has witnessed the retirement from active service of the Hon. Sir Wm. Mulock, former and first minister of labor in Canada. Sir William, during his incumbency of the position, proved, to the satisfaction and gratification of working people, his sincere interest for them and his great desire to better their condition, and the Congress is urged to express by resolution its regret at his retirement as well as its best wishes for future success. His successor, Hon. R. Lennox, has been officially invited to visit the Congress while in session at Victoria, and there is every reason to believe that he will take advantage of the invitation.

The General Field

7. The great struggle of the year has undoubtedly been the successful fight by the International Typographical Union for the 8-hour day, and too much cannot be said of the acumen, determination and wisdom displayed by the officers having the struggle in hand, as well as the fidelity, the courage, and the self-sacrificing spirit of the rank and file upon whom the brunt of the battle fell. Their success is one that enures to the benefit of every trade, and it was this fact that prompted employers to do their utmost to defeat the types. It is to be regretted that employers at Winnipeg permitted themselves to be parties to the dishonest practices of the notorious Brunning for the purpose of duping English printers into coming to Canada to act as strike-breakers. Their efforts were unsuccessful, and the direct result was to win sympathy and encouragement for the men from those who, heretofore, had been silent witnesses of the struggle. Further reference is made to this matter in our solicitor's report.

Immigration

8. As will also be seen from our solicitor's report, further restrictions are being put upon the granting of immigration bonuses, and it is hoped that the time is near at hand when the system will be entirely discontinued, and the efforts of Congress should be directed to this end.

W. T. R. Preston

9. For years trade unions in all parts of Canada have charged that W. T. R. Preston was behind much of the ill-advised immigration to Canada from Great Britain of skilled artisans and mechanics, and resolutions demanding Preston's dismissal have from time to time been passed. That the demands of organized labor have been well founded has been amply proved during the past session of the Dominion parliament. Acting upon Preston's own admissions, your executive issued a circular to the bodies affiliated with the Congress requesting them to forward to the government resolutions demanding Preston's removal. At the time of writing this report, though it has not authoritatively been announced, it appears that Mr. Preston has been removed from his position of commissioner of immigration in Great Britain to some branch of the Trade and Commerce department in the far East.

Alien Labor Act

10. One section of the Alien Labor act provides that the government may, under certain conditions, deport aliens. The power of the Dominion parliament to enact legislation of this character was questioned in the case of the Attorney General of Canada vs. Cain, and Mr. Justice Anglin declared that the Dominion parliament had no power to enact this legislation. The case was taken to the Privy Council, where Mr. Justice Anglin's decision was reversed, thus determining, once for all, the power of the Dominion parliament in these matters. The government, at times, professes to say that it has no power to deport by reason of the delegation to a private individual of the right to take proceedings. Lest the government should continue to assume that position, representations should be made to it for such an amendment of the act as will make it clear that the government's power is not affected in this way. The only effective use of the act is through the services of the government's Alien Labor officer, and the government should be pressed to take action from time to time through this officer, as it was originally intended should be done.

Such other necessary amendments should also be made to the act as to nullify the effect of recent legal decisions under the Act.

Injunctions

11. The evil of government by injunction has become so great and so oppressive that the strongest efforts should be made to secure anti-injunction legislation. In Winnipeg, Toronto and elsewhere this instrument of oppression has been particularly in evidence, and if working men are to be cautioned and urged to respect the law, the judges must be placed by legislation, if they will not do it themselves, in a position where they must recognize that working men have rights as well as employers. The judges are rapidly losing the respect of the public in this matter, and it is time our legislators pointed out by positive enactments what the rights and duties of the public are. Nothing is so much needed as a categorical determination of the rights and duties of labor and capital in connection with trades disputes.

Technical Education

12. This subject has become one of great and immediate importance. Resolutions advising the appointment of a commission to collect data upon the subject of technical education as a preliminary to the foundation of technical schools by the Dominion of Canada, have been passed by trades unions, and combined efforts are being made by the representatives of your Congress and of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to induce the government to act. The question will be brought up early next session.

12a. In this connection, your committee desires to draw the attention of the Congress to the action of the board of education of Toronto with reference to a new Technical school. At the early part of the year it was proposed that a special committee be appointed to report ways and means to improve the present Technical school. This committee decided to invite representatives from the District Labor Council, Board of Trade, and Manufacturers' Association to act with them in an advisory capacity and after three joint conferences a curriculum satisfactory to all parties was decided upon. The Board of Education then sent a deputation to visit several of the principal technical schools in the United States, and the information gathered there formed part of the report of the committee subsequently presented to the board. This report included a recommendation that a technical school be provided $250,000 for a new technical school, and $30,000 for a new site, and when the report and recommendations were presented to the council they were of such a satisfactory character as to receive the unanimous endorsement of the elders. The vice-president of the Congress was a member of the committee of the Board of Education that brought the movement for a new technical school to a successful issue, and organized labor in Toronto is to be congratulated upon the result of their many years' hard work in the interests of technical education.

The Tariff

13. The committee appointed at the last session of the Congress made specific representations to the Tariff Commission upon the attitude of organized labor. The report of the committee will be presented to you.

Senate Reform

14. Much discussion has taken place during the past year on the subject of Senate Reform, and it will not be surprising if the government comes forward with some plan of reform as part of its next campaign platform. It is noticeable that almost every plan of reform proposed has as its distinctive feature the exclusion of representatives of working people. The senate is no more necessary at Ottawa than a second chamber has been in Ontario. The only reason advanced by the premier was that the senate was necessary to protect the provinces from possible attack by the House of Commons, but, as the latter, through the government of the day, has the power to appoint those who are to defend the provinces, it is difficult to see where the protection comes in. Congress should affirm its attitude on the subject of abolition of the senate.

The "Appeal to Reason"

15. During the session the honorable the postmaster general refused the privileges of the mails to the above newspaper. It was felt that it was a serious matter generally for organized labor, and your executive joined its labors with the efforts of those seeking to have the paper restored to the privileges of the mails, with the result that the paper was reinstated in its rights.

British Labor Party

16. Your executive has been in communication with the British Labor party with a view to having some of its representative men visit Canada, and, if possible, to attend the Congress while in session at Victoria.

Importation of Chinese, Hindoo and Coolie Labor

17. While an effective restriction has been placed by the Dominion government upon the entry of Chinese into Canada, it would appear from conditions in British Columbia particularly, that some similar restriction should be placed upon the Japanese as well as upon Hindus and others who are rushing into this country, and depriving white labor of opportunities to work. It has been said that these classes are worse than Chinamen. It is also reported that Hindu laborers are being brought in to work the sawmills, and pressure is being brought to bear to allow Chinese labor to come in for railway work. Canada is in a new crisis of her history. The temptation is great to follow the example of the United States and rush in a heterogeneous conglomeration of cheap people to furnish cheap labor and satisfy the outcry for more help on the farm and on railway construction, not to mention other branches of industry. It is to be hoped that in the interests of posterity the Canadian government will steadfastly resist the temptation to resort to unwise measures. Canada wants a nation of white men, even if it has to exercise self-denial and experience some temporary loss to ensure this. We have stuck to our guns in the years gone by and slowly built up to our present prosperity by long years of discouraging and persistent work and waiting. Now we can well invoke the same firm patience and resolution to avoid undue hurry in grasping the reward that has come to us. In our years of adversity we got on without the coolies, Chinese, Hindus, Japanese and the riffraff of Europe. Much more should we be able to do so now without saddling posterity with a colored racial problem. There is no hurry. There are years and centuries that have never been touched yet. Our population is barely 6,000,000 and our aggregated trade is nearly $800,000,000 and growing rapidly. The fewer our people and the greater our wealth the more ideal will be the existing conditions. We have no need of cheap people. They are an inspiration of the get-rich-quick man who desires to pile up a few quick thousands or hundreds of thousands of dollars at the expense of the future of Canada.

Lord's Day Observance

18. An important measure was introduced last session, having for its main object the securing of one day's rest in every week. Opposition to it developed on every hand, but after running the gauntlet in the senate it finally became law and its main features are mentioned in Mr. O'Donoghue's report.

Organizers

19. Notwithstanding the great work being performed by organizers appointed by several International Trade Organizations, it has been abundantly made clear to your executive that there is pressing need throughout the whole of the Dominion for general organizers appointed and directed by the executive of the Congress. This is a subject of paramount importance that deserves keen attention.

Conclusion

In conclusion your executive expresses the belief that the deliberations of the Congress will operate for the good of the worker throughout Canada, and we hope that the delegates will lend their every energy to solving the many intricate problems presented to them during the sittings of the Congress. The responsibility upon each delegate is a heavy one that calls for his best attention. The Congress is truly the parliament of Labor and deep and sincere consideration for the interests of all concerned should be given to each matter dealt with. We trust every success will follow your efforts in conserving the welfare of the working people.

Executive Officers of Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

It was then decided that the sittings of the congress should extend from 9 a. m. till 12, noon, and from 2 p. m. till 5; and that a mover of a resolution should be allowed ten minutes and all others five minutes.

R. P. Pettipiece, Vancouver, wanted a longer time for discussion.

Mr. Hungerford did not see any reason why the limit of speakers should be made, and thought the chairman should have the power to say when the delegates should be muzzled.

James Simpson, Toronto, suggested that when the political question came before the congress the convention could go into committee of the whole, when they could discuss it to their heart's content.

This course was agreed to. An adjournment was then taken for lunch.

Afternoon Session

On resuming after the intermission, the convention was visited by Hon. William Templeman, minister of inland revenue; Hon. R. McBride, Mayor Morley; F. A. Pauline, vice president of the board of trade, who, with Mr. Young, state organizer of the Oregon Federation of Labor, were given seats on the platform.

President Verville, in introducing the gentlemen referred to them as some of the most important men in Canada.

Hon. R. McBride, in addressing the congress, said he considered it a great privilege to participate in the proceedings of the afternoon. He said he understood that there was lots of business to be transacted by the congress, and he would govern himself accordingly. On behalf of the province he tendered the delegates a hearty welcome, and said that their visit was greatly appreciated in the Pacific province. He thought it was another indication of the growing of the West—the holding of the convention in the capital city of British Columbia. Western Canada was growing and it was greatly interesting both Canada and the United States. He hoped that after the delegates had spent a few days in the province they would leave it with the impression that British Columbia was a great country, and that they would realize what a good Canada they had after they had visited British Columbia. He did not intend to say anything about the business that had brought the delegates together. If he did he would be unwise and his action would be unwarranted. In referring to the provincial legislature he said that they had to deal with many important measures regarding labor, and it had been said British Columbia was the most advanced province in Canada in regard to the labor question. On behalf of the government, he said that what they had done was done advisedly and well, and he hoped, for the best interest of the province. In their discussions on measures affecting workingmen, the legislature had the advice of some well known workmen, and they were always willing to accept advice. He hoped that the legislation that had been passed was to the interest of the workman as well as the province. He again extended a welcome and hoped they would enjoy and benefit themselves. (Applause.)

In having the congress in the city, and was pleased that they had seen their way clear to accept the invitation that had been sent by the board of trade to the congress of last year. He referred to the shortage of labor in British Columbia and expressed the hope that if the question came within the scope of the congress they should consider it fully. He pointed out that in the past the province had been supplied with Asiatic labor, which was now barred by a prohibitive tax. It was important for the development of the province that they should be well supplied with labor, not necessarily cheap labor, but good labor, and the best that could be secured. He stated that there were many in British Columbia who were anxious to see the tax removed, and asked that the congress consider the matter fully.

T. E. Rickett, fraternal delegate of the American Federation of Labor, said it gave him great pleasure to be present as the representative of the American Federation of Labor, and was pleased to bear greetings from that organization. He said that he was to address the congress later in the session, and he would not say much at present, but hoped that it would result in much good.

Mr. Young, state organizer of the Oregon Federation of Labor, said he was delegated to attend the meeting, not to make speeches, but to get acquainted with the people of this part of the country, and also the delegates from the East. He did not know what conditions existed in this country, and he would be out of place if he tried to tell them what to do. There was no line between the labor organizations, but for the Washington state federation he brought greetings and would be glad to have delegates from this country visit their convention that would be held in Bellingham in January.

He said that the labor organization was a fraternal organization and it would be better if all the organizations were fraternalized. He referred to the shingle strike that recently took place in Washington, and said that for five months there was a hard struggle, and he was sorry to say that the unions were the losers. He said the conditions that existed at that time were not to the advantage of the union. He thought that strikes were not conducive to the good of labor organizations, and he hoped the time would soon come when strikes would be few and far between. There were many "rainbow chasers," but they were also few and far between. He thought that the organization of labor would go on forever, and it was useless for politicians to talk about solving the labor question. The Washington organization was interested in the question of immigration, as well as the Trades Congress. He said that all immigrants should be educated to the proper standard of living, and to live, not as they lived in their own country, but in the country they came to.

The people of America had arrived at the conclusion that the only way they could get the legislators to recognize their claims was to elect men of their own class, with union cards in their pockets. Regarding the immigration question, he said that while laws were being made against Chinese, the Americans were patting the "little brown man" on the back and cheering him on to victory, and in the meantime the "little brown man" was being used to lower the living wages of the labor class of America. It was not at present that his presence would be felt, but when hard times came the want of work would be bad enough, without having to compete against yellow labor. He thought it was time for everyone to rise up and say stop. We have had enough of this cheap labor, and there are enough workmen to take their place in the world. All delegates from this province, as well as others, to send delegates to their convention, as he thought it would result in great good to all labor organizations.

Mayor Morley said he hoped that the congress would consider the advisability of having an eight-hour day for the mayor. He extended a hearty welcome to the delegates, and was pleased to see that the congress had chosen such a pretty place as Victoria for their convention. He said that the few labor troubles experienced here, he hoped that the members of the convention would remember in their discussions the great Old Country spirit, the spirit of "fair play," and unless the many questions were discussed in this manner it would not do as much good. He did not think it was the intention of the convention to endeavor to have everything their own way, as it would only cause trouble, and he create an injustice to those with whom they had to deal, but act fairly with everyone, and he hoped that the pendulum of the labor question would never swing too far to the right or left, and that no trouble would arise. He again extended a hearty welcome to the delegates, and hoped they would enjoy themselves and would leave with the impression that it was a good place to come and have a good time.

President Verville said, on behalf of the congress, that he was pleased to have present the representatives of the different parliaments, the mayor and the vice president of the board of trade. If it could always be kept this way it would be a bright outlook for labor. The gathering was fairly representative of the workmen of Canada, and he hoped that the workingmen would be able to assist their candidates in parliament. He would never miss the opportunity to remind the minister of inland revenue of his good advice, and hoped Mr. McNiven would take the same opportunity to remind the provincial government.

Mr. Simpson, in moving a vote of thanks, said it was always considered a courtesy with the trades congress to invite representatives from the government to be present to give their views on the many questions. He moved a hearty vote of thanks to the members in attendance, which was carried unanimously.

The following committees were then named: Committee on standing orders and resolutions—S. L. Landers, Hamilton; R. Hungerford, Toronto; J. F. Grassie, Winnipeg; J. C. E. Tardif, Montreal; E. Empey, Ottawa; E. J. Stevenson, Moose Jaw; P. Phillips, Nelson; G. F. Gray, Victoria; R. P. Pettipiece, Vancouver; S. A. B. Crabb, Thibridge; A. Henderson, Calgary; H. Committee on audit—W. H. Popham, Winnipeg; J. C. Watters, Victoria; A. Champion, Toronto; George F. Pound, Vancouver; R. Todd, Vancouver.

The following resolutions were received and referred to the committee on resolutions:

A. Frane, member of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, as candidates for Federal election in St. Mary's division of Montreal.

By Delegate George F. Gray, Victoria Trades and Labor Council. By Delegate J. F. And whereas many unemployed of those counties answer these ads, and as Winnipeg is the only city in Canada paying the above rate of wages, and in need of any such number of plumbers. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. THE LATE MISS O'MEARA.

(Contributed.)
Miss Camille O'Meara who died early on Monday morning after a long and painful illness was a well known figure amongst the most promising of Victoria's amateur singers. Possessed of a clear elastic and well trained soprano voice of a good compass, a tall and commanding presence and a graciousness of manner inherited from her French ancestry—it was an inspiration to hear her sing. Always ready to contribute to a good cause no charitable society ever asked her help in vain. The beauty of her voice and face, the graciousness of her manner were but sacraments of that fair life she led and the sunshine which she shed on all who knew her. The sweet voice is silenced here on earth to sing with a fuller joy her Deum Laudamus in the courts above where death is swallowed up in victory.

ANOTHER UNFOUNDED REPORT.

For about the twentieth time, the Opposition papers are predicting the dissolution of the Legislative Assembly. As this has been kept up regularly for the past two or more years and the term of the Legislature has but one year longer to run, it requires no large measure of sagacity to understand that sooner or later this kind of prognostication will prove correct.

Last evening, in line with what has thus grown into a habit, the Times announced that Premier McBride had asked His Honor, for a dissolution, that it had been granted, and that elections will be held in December. We are authorized by the Premier to say that the statements in the Times are absolutely without foundation, that he has not approached His Honor either directly or indirectly in the matter, and that the whole statement of the case as it appears in our contemporary is a fabric of guesswork, and the result of imagination from first to last.

With reference to the gazettement of Mr. Flewin's son as government agent at Port Simpson, Hon. Mr. McBride says that this was done because Mr. Flewin asked for leave of absence to come to Victoria, and that, as is usual, his son was gazetted to act in his stead during his absence. Mr. Flewin has not resigned, and has, so far as is known, no intention of resigning.

However, as we have already intimated, the present legislature has only about one year longer to exist, and if the predictions of dissolution are maintained for the next twelve months with the same regularity that they have been for the past two or three years, they are bound to be realized. The percentage of truthfulness contained in these predictions may not be sufficiently large to be a matter of congratulation. Nevertheless, once in three years represents a high average for our friends of the Opposition press.

THE DOMINION GOVERNMENT AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Following upon the remarks in the Colonist on Sunday with respect to immigration, there is a duty to be performed by the Dominion Government in the interests of British Columbia, apart from the administration of the Act to prevent undesirable immigrants. Under Section 95, of the British North America Act, the provinces and the Dominion have concurrent powers of legislation respecting agriculture and immigration. These powers were given for the purpose of permitting each province to make laws in accordance with its own agricultural requirements and to induce immigration on certain lines, which might not be well-adapted to conditions in another province. The duty in a general way, however, none the less devolves upon the Dominion government to do all in its power to promote agriculture and immigration. We find that for years the authorities at Ottawa have followed a very progressive policy of agriculture, mainly with a view to eastern conditions and requirements, it is true, but nevertheless progressive and praiseworthy. The only thing we have to complain of is that the same proportion of benefits has not been extended to British Columbia, where the difficulties of development are much greater than in other provinces.

In respect to immigration for a long time past the Dominion government has concentrated its energies upon filling up the Middle West—Manitoba and the Territories. That was good policy, also, as a large population there meant a large and profitable market for the rest of Canada, British Columbia as well as the eastern provinces. The latter have found the Middle West a most excellent market for manufactured products, and British Columbia has discovered that in fruit and lumber, in sugar, some Oriental and British imported goods, and to some extent in fish that that country is likely to be of immense benefit. To some extent, too, it has solved the immigration problem. Now that newcomers are pouring into the Middle West from all parts of the world, many persons are making a great deal of money, and are selling out and coming to British Columbia to enjoy a more moderate climate, and, in many instances, are engaging in farming. We are thus receiving a better class of settlers than we otherwise would, had we to depend entirely upon our own resources. This, it will be observed, however, is an incident of the policy of the Dominion government. No special effort of any kind has been made to induce immigration to this province, not for some years.

The policy of the immigration department at Ottawa in confining its efforts to the Middle West has been more or less justified from the fact that the lands to be settled there were Dominion government lands, and required special attention. Outside of Manitoba, the country was practically under the control of the Dominion. It was not, at least, under provincial control. Now, however, that Saskatchewan and Alberta have been organized as provinces, the whole populated territory from the Atlantic to the Pacific is on all fours, and it is, therefore, not incumbent upon the Dominion government to pay all its attention to the problem of immigration in one spot, so to speak. The federal authorities, it is true, still own all the unalienated land in the two new provinces, but they also own large tracts of land in Southern British Columbia and in Peace River district.

The western lands are rapidly filling up. It is with difficulty even now that crown lands in the Middle West can be secured by settlers. The immigration problem in Canada has just about solved itself. The campaign of publicity carried on for many years has had its reward, and hereafter it will scarcely be necessary, except for special purposes, to maintain immigration agents abroad. People are coming of their own volition, and will continue to come, as they have done in the United States, without any government machinery. One difficulty will probably soon be experienced in the inability of the government to stop the stream once it has fairly started.

It seems to us that the next thing for the Dominion government to do is to turn its attention to the conditions which exist in British Columbia, in Northern Ontario and in other similar parts of Canada, but especially in British Columbia. It should apply itself to the solution of the problem of an adequate supply of labor of the right kind, as one of the things necessary for the development of this country. One of the difficulties with which we have to deal is that, owing to the rate of transportation to the Coast, we are not getting the benefit of the immigration already coming into Canada and for which we help to pay. The Canadian Pacific Railway, as we stated Saturday, gives a special immigrant rate as far as Calgary, which is double to the Coast. To the poor immigrant this is a practical barrier much higher than the Rocky mountains. It is, too, a matter of but little concern to him, as his services are in demand east as well as west. The fault cannot be said to be with the Canadian Pacific Railway, for as a transportation company, its business is not necessarily that of supplying the economic demands of the country at a rate lower than the normal. If the C. P. R. favors the Middle West in its labors, it is because it has interests there, and it pays it to do so. The situation there is one for the Dominion government to take into its most serious consideration.

While on the subject, it might be well to refer to irrigation, which, in this connection, has been discussed in the Colonist on several previous occasions. The Ottawa Free Press, a leading Liberal paper, remarks that "the work which has been undertaken by the Federal government, and also by the C. P. R. for the reclamation of arid lands in Saskatchewan and Alberta is bearing wonderful results." It goes on to point out that in the United States, according to Vice-President Fairbanks, 10,000,000 acres have been added to the area under cultivation by the various irrigation and reclamation enterprises.

We do not know to what extent the Dominion government has gone in the Middle West in irrigation to obtain "wonderful results." All credit, so far, is probably due to the Canadian Pacific Railway, but we do know that the minister of agriculture at Ottawa, has declared himself in favor of a policy of that nature. There is, as we know, considerable land in British Columbia within the dry belt, which, if irrigated, would extend very considerably the areas of land available for horticulture in this province. If it is a good policy to irrigate in the Middle West, why is it not in British Columbia? And if the Dominion government undertakes irrigation for the Middle West, why not for British Columbia?

THE VALUE OF A GOOD NAME.

P. B. McNamara, Canadian commercial agent at Manchester, in his report to the department of trade and commerce, Ottawa, points out that the onslaught made by the English press on American canned meat has had a decided reactionary effect on canned foods of all kinds from all countries. The consumption has fallen off almost entirely in the case of meats, and stocks held by merchants prior to the disclosures are in store awaiting more favorable times. Mr. McNamara says that "one of the large Chicago packing firms is now advertising extensively in the English press that its food products are eminently wholesome, and that their cleanly mode of packing was never questioned, in order to offset the very strong prejudices at present existing. It has been suggested that canned meat packages should bear the date at which packed, but the adoption of that would, it is said, seriously interfere with the sale, and is strongly condemned by all the large dealers here. The use of these foods cannot be forced at the present time, the warm weather adding its weight as against their use; but when the cold weather sets in, Canadian canned meats will experience a boom, as there is an abiding faith in its superior quality, in the minds of the great consuming public of this Manchester district."

According to King Solomon, "a good name is rather to be chosen than riches." This is true in a commercial sense. A good name in this respect is an important asset, and is of greater value than a big business the foundations of which are, like that of the meat packers of Chicago, not secure owing to the methods employed. The people of Great Britain have faith in Canada for two reasons. One is that Canadians are more like the British people than the Americans, and the other is that their business methods are believed to be more honest. In cultivating a trade in the British market, it is essential that reputation should be maintained and added to. It is, therefore, in the interests of the manufacturer of Canadian canned goods, as well as of Canadian commerce, that the factories and product should be subject to very strict inspection, so that when Canadian goods find their way to the home market they can always stand the test of scrutiny for quality and purity. A good name is priceless.

President Roosevelt is finding more trouble with his spelling reform than he has in building the Panama Canal. He is a pretty big man and is popular enough to do almost anything in the United States without being hurt, but he is not yet great enough to "fool" with the English language without danger to himself.

A branch or off-shoot of the great firm of J. & P. Coates, the famous thread makers, now an immense consolidation of allied manufactures, is being established in Canada. The company now being organized will have a capital of half a million of dollars. The operations at Fort William will comprise the manufacture of carpets, art publications, and certain branches of merchant engineering works. Henry Coates, the head of the new Canadian company is the son of Andrew Coates, one of the founders of the present establishment. He has selected Fort William, because of its being a sort of halfway house in Canada.

An agitation is going on in the newer parts of Ontario for the formation of another province, a name suggested for which has been Algoma. The principal reason advanced in favor of this separation is incompatibility of interest between old and new Ontario. The old is almost wholly agricultural and manufacturing in character, while the latter is mining, lumbering, etc. One is conservative and settled; while the other is developing and speculative. The area of the new province would be 632,845 square miles and the population of the territory in view is now estimated at 150,000. It is not at all likely that the movement will succeed. Without particular reference to the grievances of which the people in New Ontario complain, it is not desirable that provinces should be multiplied. In the Maritime Provinces, there is a growing feeling towards their consolidation which may yet be brought about.

Mr. Ernest Terry makes the statement that Englishmen are not popular in Canada. That is both true and untrue. An Englishman who does not assume to be better than the rest of the community because he is an Englishman, can be elected to a municipal council or to parliament as readily as a man of any other nationality. If an Englishman does plume himself too much upon his birth and "bringing up"—and he does some times—he is apt to create a prejudice against himself, and against the class to which he belongs. It has been stated that in the Middle West that that prejudice is general. It is not in British Columbia. This is a very free country. A man is at liberty to think as much as he likes about himself and as little as he likes about other people, so long as he doesn't impose his views on the public. One reason for the Englishman's unpopularity, when he is unpopular is accounted largely for by the lack of adaptability as compared with the Irishman or Scotchman. The Aberdeen Daily Free Press discussing this matter asserts that "the Scotchman is an adaptable cosmopolitan; the Englishman is not. The latter is tremendously self-satisfied and complacent. He disdains to take advice even from those who have lived in the country. He is provincial in that he is too fond of judging everything by what he has known in England, and has not the reticence to conceal it. The Scotchman may sometimes make the same foolish comparisons between other countries and his own, but his shyness and diffidence, as a rule, save him from showing it. There is also wanting in him that peculiar air of superiority and condescension which is so intensely resented by Canadians and New Zealanders." However, upon final analysis we shall find the Irishman's estimate is mainly correct that "there are good and bad among all people."

Editors of "Ye olden time" were much more vitriolic in the treatment of contemporaries than they are at the present time. In fact, there has been a complete change in the tone of the leading papers in this respect. When William Gillespy was editor of the Hamilton Spectator in the year 1857, says a writer in that paper, he now and then sharpened up his pencil and went for his political opponents in a style that was neither child-like nor bland. The man he wrote about in the following paragraph was at one time a writer on one of the Hamilton papers: "The malignant wretch who for years has insulted this community with his base slanders and unparalleled lying, and whom we assisted to hunt out of West Elgin, because we considered him a disgrace, has returned to his wallowing in the mire. We have no wish to bandy epithets with such a vile excrement, nor do we care to upbraid him with the past. It is sufficient that we know the fellow to be a disgrace to the name of man—to call him such would be a foul libel on humanity. He was excluded from the Press Association and deserves to be hooted from all decent society. His effusions are a tissue of blackguardism and untruth worthy only of emanating from a fit subject for the lunatic asylum. He is so sunk in baseness that we leave him to the contempt and execration of all honest men."

Beautiful and Brilliant Colors Guaranteed When Ladies Use

DIAMOND DYES

Each year thousands of letters come in from all parts of this vast Dominion telling of victories and successes with Diamond Dyes in the home.

The marvelous and immense sales of Diamond Dyes in Canada have induced adventurers and speculators (who know nothing about the chemistry of color) to go into the putting up of package dyes. Such dyes are adulterated and crude; the colors are muddy and blotchy, bringing ruin to the materials you try to dye.

DIAMOND DYES, the choice of wise women, are the kind used when bright, full, fast and brilliant colors are wanted. No disappointments possible when you use Diamond Dyes.

DIAMOND DYES are sold by all leading druggists and dealers. Refuse to accept substitutes when you ask for Diamond Dyes. Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P. Q., for New Direction Book, Diamond Dye Cook Book and Illustrated Booklet, entitled "Diamond Dye Longjohns' Winter and Summer Sports." Sent free to any address.

The Sensible Thing in Card Prizes

There is no competition at cards so keen as at the "whist" or "euchre" where the principal prizes are dainty, useful bits of china. The men are not averse to bits of china either—steins, pipe trays, tobacco boxes, etc.

But, an artistic chocolate pot, biscuit jar, bonbon box or tray, a pretty plate or cup and saucer, will infatuate a woman as nothing else.

There are hundreds of items here which will contribute materially to the success of your party. The summer prizes will allow your prize money to go a long way.

The grain crop of the prairies, he says, has been gathered in in good condition, and there is general prosperity.
There is an increasing interest, Mr.
Arbuthnot says, in Winnipeg and the central centres of the middle west in home of many of those now doing business there.

MARINE

R. M. S. Empress of India, which reached port at noon yesterday, 11 days and 30 minutes from Yokohama, Japan, failed to make a new record for the run across the Pacific on her first run under the new schedule with the "Overseas" mail. The steamer would have made a fast run had fog not been encountered off the Vancouver Island coast on Sunday, causing delay; otherwise the steamer would have reached William Head on Sunday evening. Yokohama was left late, and the run across the Pacific was made at a higher rate of speed than usual. The steamer made 10.12 miles an hour, with daily runs of 250 and 300 miles an hour until arrival off the Vancouver Island coast, when the fog bank shut in, and all chances of a record were lost. The weather was favorable, with wind following and on the beam throughout—this will delay the steamer Empress of China bound in the opposite direction. Heretofore the run across the Pacific has been made at a speed of fourteen knots and twelve days usually occupied for the run. The fastest trip made was that of the Empress of Japan, which occupied 10 days and 10 hours between Yokohama and Victoria.

Although the Empress of India left fourteen hours after the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Kaga Maru—which is stated on Sunday—is bringing a notable Japanese financier as a passenger—the white liner passed the Japanese steamer, which is not expected until tomorrow—three days slower than the Empress steamer crossing the Pacific.

The Empress had a cargo of 1800 tons of general freight, including silk, opium, cigars, tea, etc., and 50 saloon, 33 intermediate and 505 steerage passengers. The steamer included 265 Hindus, of whom 17 debarked at this port. Among the saloon passengers were W. H. Samuel of Samuel Samuel and Co., who is reported to be on his way to London in connection with the flotation of the Yokohama loan, which is being issued by his firm. Mr. G. R. Gregg, a Winnipeg man who has made a number of trips by the Empress steamers to and from Japan was another passenger. There were, as usual, a number of naval and military officers on board, among them being Commander Luard, R. N., Commander Montro, R. N., Major Osada and Surgeon Cross, H. H. Han, who arrived in Victoria on the last outward Empress embarked on the white liner here to journey eastward.

The barkentine Archer, which reached Tacoma on Sunday from San Francisco was a British vessel last in these waters, when she narrowly escaped disaster on Vancouver Island. In the spring of 1894 when attempting to make the straits she met a terrific storm and was dismasted. For a time it was believed she would be dashed against the rocks of Vancouver Island and destroyed. The crew took to the boats and succeeded in reaching safety after a hard struggle with the elements. The weather moderated and the abandoned vessel was picked up by a passing steamer and towed to Victoria, where she lay for some time. She was finally purchased by Americans and repaired. Her side flag was torn and the vessel from a British bark she became an American barkentine.

The lumber laden ship Robert Seale which reached San Francisco on Sunday reports having experienced a severe seismic shock, which caused a panic among the crew and threatened serious harm to the vessel. Capt. Pilz says that on the morning of September 14, when his ship was within 100 miles of her destination, a severe disturbance of the water was felt. As near as could be determined the earthquake shock was experienced at a point in the Pacific in latitude 41 degrees 18 minutes north, longitude 125 degrees 52 minutes west. So severe was the disturbance that the cargo and upper works of the vessel were shaken. The captain and the second officer recorded the length of the shock as 22 minutes.

A TOTAL WRECK.

Steamer Oregon Lost—Passenger Tells of Disaster.

A telegram received by Capt. D. H. Jarvis, general manager of the Northwestern Fisheries, stated that the steamship Oregon, which sank near Valdez three days ago, was a total wreck and that there was no hope of saving her. The message stated that the captain and crew of the Oregon deserved great credit, as well as the officers and crew of the lighthouse tender Columbine, which attended the wreck. Capt. J. F. Trowbridge, general manager of the Northwestern Steamship Co., also received a message from Capt. Soule, of the Oregon, which stated that the steamer was a total loss and that she was completely submerged. Capt. Trowbridge stated that the Oregon lay at the foot of a 200-foot cliff, and that it would be utterly impossible for any vessel to attempt to salvage her on account of the strong tides running in that vicinity and the exposed position of the spot in which the ship lies. The cargo will also be a total loss. Until the message from Capt. Soule was received it was intended to send a wrecking tug there, but the company have now altered their plan.

Mr. Hannahara, of the Japanese legation at Washington, sent to investigate the sealing raid on the Pribyl islands, was among the passengers. Capt. Richardson of the tender Columbine said oil was used to good advantage in taking off the passengers of the Oregon. J. C. Lewth of Seattle, a passenger, said: "After the mate and four sailors went for assistance about midnight nothing

G. H. MUMM & CO. have an unchangeable rule to use only grapes of the finest vineyards, and thereby give fullest value for the cost of their champagnes; hence their superior quality, as can readily be proven by making comparisons.

G. H. MUMM & CO. make immense purchases of fine vintages, in order to tide over poorer ones, and do not confine themselves to the product of a limited number of vineyards; and carrying a tremendous stock are enabled to maintain the same high standard of quality and supply all demands.

G. H. MUMM & CO.'S Extra Dry now in the market is conceded to be the finest produced this decade. It is made from selected grapes of the choicest vineyards in the Champagne District and is noted for its superb quality, natural dryness and purity.

The Selected Brut is a brut champagne of the very highest quality made of selected cuvees of vintage years specially adapted for brut wines. Connoisseurs pronounce it the finest brut imported. It is a very dry and genuine brut champagne of exceeding purity without being heavy, and their 1895s, 1898s, 1899s and 1900s are unsurpassable.

was done aboard except to provision the boats and hanging out on davits all daylight, when a life raft got a line ashore and around a pinnacle rock, rigging up a breeches buoy for emergency.

The boat loads of passengers, then left for a place to land. It was raining hard and the women were hysterical, but the best of order was maintained by the officers. All liquor was locked up as soon as the boat struck.

When she struck the boat seeped to lift and then ground ahead, trembling from the shock, and soon settled down steadily. The second mate was on the bridge at the time of the wreck, the captain was asleep. The vessel had encountered a bad storm the day before with heavy swells from the sea, which undoubtedly threw the officers off in their reckoning. It was very dark with a heavy fog and showers of rain.

R. Morrison, a passenger from Catalina, says there were never any signs of a panic on board. After the first flurry of excitement, following the shock, the orders given by the officers were obeyed promptly, and although many feared the sea would rise and make escape impossible, they went calmly about collecting baggage and provisions till daylight.

If the captain had allowed boats to be launched to try to land during the night there probably would have been a repetition of the Valencia disaster, for a strip of beach was uncovered at high tide for six miles along the coast and the surf was very rough.

GOOD NEWS TRAVELS FAST.
Gentlemen Give Expression to Opinions, and That Makes Wide Reputations.

Unsolicited testimony cannot be discounted. While the patent medicine vendors have rather brought their publication into disrepute, one cannot refrain from the conclusion that real merit and worth would never be more than merely local reputation were it not for the press.

To Mitchell & Robins, of Fort William, who control the Semi-Ready Wardrobe in the Twin Cities of the North, a neighbor, a fellow merchant said: "This Semi-Ready suit is the first garment I have been able to get which really fitted me in fifteen years. I have tried every custom tailor I knew."

Writing to the Semi-Ready Company in Montreal, Mr. C. H. Halladay, a prominent insurance agent, said: "In reference to a suit purchased from your Wardrobe at Brockville, a Montreal tailor of this place who has been in business for nearly 20 years said to me: 'Halladay, you have the most perfect fitting coat I have ever seen.'"

The science of the physique type, which only the genuine Semi-Ready offers, insures a perfect fit for every man.

PROTECTION FOR GERMANS.
Recent Murder by Russian Revolutionaries Causes Correspondence.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 17.—The insecurity of life and property in the Baltic provinces, which culminated last Saturday in the murder of Herr Bush, a rich German manufacturer, and the leader of the German colony at Riga, has led the German embassy here again to make energetic representations to the foreign office concerning the adoption of measures for the protection of German subjects.

The ministers of the interior, justice and war have sent commissions to investigate the recent massacre at Siedlee. The commissions have been instructed to investigate especially the charges of unrestrained looting and killing by soldiers and to fix the responsibility.

ANOTHER LINER ASHORE.
Manchuria Floated Sunday, Same Time Mongolia Stranded.

The steamer Manchuria of the Pacific Mail line, was floated on Sunday; on the same day the steamer Mongolia, a sister liner, went ashore at Midway Island. According to the latest advices, the Mongolia lies on the windward side of Midway Island, in a dangerous place. She is leaking slightly. The steamer had on board 200 cabin passengers and 500 Asiatics in the steerage. It is thought that it will be necessary to send relief to them immediately. Captain Porter has sent a cable saying the vessel is in a serious position. It is stated that Captain Metcalf, who, with Captain Pillsbury, succeeded in floating the Manchuria, will take the steamer Restorer to Midway for the purpose of saving the Mongolia as soon as he is able to raise the tackle used in saving the Manchuria. Midway Island, being so little above the sea level, affords no protection from any side from heavy seas. The position of the Mongolia is not known here, but a storm coming from any direction would affect her. Storms engineering in McGill university, is in charge of the party.

They arrived by the Princess Victoria making the Driford their headquarters while in the city. Encouraging some of the most important members of the profession in this country they were received by the local civil engineers, City Engineer Topp and E. Mohun and Mr. Devereux were on hand to welcome them.

They were taken about the city in trolleys, while a large party went by launch to visit the dry dock and the marine railway at Esquimalt in charge of Mr. Devereux.

THE GOLFER AND THE SEAGULL.

An interesting point for golfers has been raised by the curious experience of Mr. Brothers, of Blackburn, on the picturesque links at Port St. Mary. Mr. Brothers had driven from the fifth hole when a huge seagull swooped down on the ball as it alighted, and carried it off in its bill, with six other gulls furiously contesting for its possession. Regarding the ball as lost, Mr. Brothers retired another and played it, but on following it up, he was astonished to find that the original ball had been dropped by the bird well on the green. The question then arose: was he entitled to play it where it lay?

SIGHTED TWO WRECK.
French Ship Passed Two Derelicts Abandoned by Crews.

The ship Ville de Mulhouse which has arrived at Seattle from Antwerp sighted two wrecks on route.

Deserted, but with some of her sails drawing, others flapping in frayed strips from the yardarm, and her wheel turning as though steered by an invisible helmsman, the Norwegian bark Servia was sighted. After rounding Cape Horn the bounty earner also sighted the almost submerged wreck of a large sailing vessel which was waterlogged and which appeared to have been wrecked in a heavy gale.

Capt. Bony said the Ville de Mulhouse went close to the Servia. She was evidently waterlogged and the boats were gone from the davits, with the exception of the long boat, which was smashed. The hatches were off and showed that she had been looted of everything of value before the crew swelled into a head sea and swung for a minute; the wheel would turn and then she would come up and back again on her course. There was a light fair wind almost astern. The mainsail was clewed up, but hanging in ribbons. We would have stopped and gone on board, but saw a steamer coming and knew she would pick up the wreck.

"If we had been aboard a steam vessel we would have picked it up and towed her to port for the salvage. This is the first time that ever I have seen a wreck of this kind going along under full sail."

The second wreck was seen on May 4th when we sighted the wreck of a large vessel. She was almost completely submerged. Only the three stumps of her masts were above water. They had been broken off close to the deck, with the exception of the mainmast, which had gone just beneath the main top. There was nothing to be seen on deck. It looked as though she had been caught in a sudden gale, her masts had gone by the board and her crew had deserted her after she started to fill. Probably some of her plates were sprung and she had started to go down. I am not sure that it was an iron ship, but think it was. It was just about evening when we sighted it and grew dark before we could make a careful examination."

CONDITIONS IN IRELAND.
Tim Healy's Opinions Concerning the Land Act and Emigration.

Timothy M. Healy, M. P., who is visiting in this country, believes that the new land act is at least helping the agriculturalists in Ireland. He does not believe that Emigration is now an economic necessity, and he says that the great magnet which draws the Irish across the sea is America. They are known here by the ties of blood and kinship. There is much truth in that remark, though the opportunity afforded in this country for a man to make money is also an attraction on the whole, the greatest. Even with the government help in purchasing farm lands, agriculture in Ireland has but small opportunities to offer as a money-making venture compared to the openings to be found in this country. One of the objections that has been raised to the land purchase act is that it may result in the end in driving out of the country some of its best men, leaders who have done much for their people. When estates have been cut up and sold, the house and its immediate grounds have almost always been retained. But will that policy continue? Many fear that it cannot last through another generation, and the loss would be a severe one. That single objection does not, however, count against the good that has been accomplished under the land purchase-government loan act.—Boston Herald.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING OFFICE.
Inquiry Commenced—No Independent C. P. R. Line to Seattle.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 17.—The preliminary meeting of the commission to inquire into the affairs of the Vancouver shipping office was held this morning, Judge Henderson presiding. Counsel asked for a week's adjournment to secure witnesses, and this was granted. Mr. J. E. Bird, appearing for the Typographical Union, said he would show that sailors from this port were not only roughly handled, but were underpaid and underfed. It is understood that Mr. R. G. MacPherson, M. P., will be called as a witness.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy in an interview here this morning declared that the C. P. R. had no intention of building an independent line to Seattle. The present traffic agreement with the Northern Pacific expires next year, but Sir Thomas said that there was no reason to believe that it would be cancelled.

The Chinese of the city have decided to build an arch in honor of the coming of Earl Grey next week.

Mrs. Jonathan S. Miller, wife of the postmaster here died this morning in her 60th year. Mrs. Miller was a pioneer of Gastown having settled here in 1871. She leaves besides her husband E. Miller, her children Walter and Frank Miller, the well known lacrosse players; Ernest Miller, barrister, of Nelson; Mrs. Hirschfeld, wife of Atten Hirschfeld and Mrs. Berry, of the World staff.

WESTERN CANADA'S BIG STORE

New Goods for Fall now on Exhibition.

NEW, BEAUTIFUL, PRACTICAL, EXCLUSIVE, FINE, INEXPENSIVE.

Paris has had her say; now it is left for Victoria women to decide what they like best among the hosts of new stuffs already received and on show. You are invited.

New Tailor Suitings—very height of dress goods style.

Four great weaving countries—England, France, Germany and America—have been busy for the past six months making this Fall's patterns and materials.

It seems that each maker has given most attention to developing new suitings which are after manly styles. There's not a bit of use attempting to describe them. Say there's plaid—and one not yet accustomed to the new designs at once portrays stunning plaid of blocks and bars, but these plaid suitings are far from that conception.

Call them stripes, and one thinks of rigid bars traversing a vacant expanse of cloth. But visit the dress goods store and you will see tweeds that will make most artistic suits. These stripe tweeds are varied by all sorts of lazy over and under weaves and shot here and there with bits of color.

Handsome and effective tweeds for coats have newly arrived.

Inexpensive Fall Suitings

Tweeds at 50c. a yard; hard to tell them from high class suitings.

New Flannelettes and Wash Flannels

Now ready for the soon-needed warmer waists, underclothes, kimonos and wrappers.

Wash Flannelette, 25c. to 50c.
Fine Irish Flannels, 60c., 65c. and 75c.

Velveteen & Corduroy

Domest Flannels, 10c., 15c. and 20c.

Paris says: Velvets everywhere. Notice the lovely shades of greens, browns, blues and greys.

New Broadcloths
at $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50

Yes, the very same quality we've been selling for the past two or three years, though their making cost is increasing.

Dressmakers & Tailors

Who want to get posted on the latest Fall Fashions should see these fabrics.

Many other materials are shown, as: Oxford Mixtures, All-wool Tartans, Satin Stripe Serges, Grey Worsteeds.

Among the Black Goods are: Embroidered Tweed Voles, $1.00. Embroidered Cloth, 75c. All-wool Corline, $1.00. All-wool Panama, 60c. to $1.00. Most fabrics are of light weight material; they "make up" much more gracefully than the heavy kinds. We have our usual big assortment of fine black materials up to $3.00 a yard.
